Spring is here and we are sure glad to see it! We are into the middle of the annual bull and female sale season and calving has come to an end for some and is just starting for others. This spring we hope for good moisture to help bring those summer grasses and settle the dust for branding. Branding isn’t something that is enforced all over the state of Nebraska, but it is an interesting part of history in the cattle industry. According to the National Cowboy Museum, the earliest records of livestock branding date back to the ancient Egyptians, but the practice came to America by way of European travelers. People have great loyalty to their family brand and ranchers started using the branding iron as a way for them to stake their claim on cattle and other livestock while deterring theft from rustlers. There are many methods to branding including electric brands, freeze branding, and the traditional hot branding. The use of the family brand helps market cattle and also serves as a way to add personal touch on home décor, if that is something you desire.

Since the 1940 the Nebraska Angus Association has helped build a successful “brand” for our Angus breeders. The Nebraska Angus Association strives to serve our membership, youth, and all Angus breeders throughout Nebraska and our surrounding states. Our mission is to help promote high quality Angus genetics for our producers, provide educational services to our members and youth, and help create better economic opportunities for all members and their customers. We strive to expand the Angus breed in our area, stimulate social interaction, and provide endless marketing to our members. With your membership you help provide these services. I want to thank everyone for their membership in 2020 and look forward to continuing to work with you! The due date for the 2021 membership renewals is May 15th. I mailed membership forms in January, but you can also find the membership form on our website at www.nebraskaangus.org.

The Spring issue will be the last issue until the 2021-2022 annual Directory. The Nebraska Angus Association is excited to provide a useful catalog to help market your cattle and operation. Annual Directory space reservations are due by May 15th. Please contact me to reserve your spot. Do not miss out on this great marketing opportunity for your operation. This issue is mailed out to over 5,500 seed stock producers, commercial producers, and agricultural entities and is distributed at all of our annual events including the National Western Stock Show, Nebraska Cattleman’s Classic, the Nebraska State Fair, Husker Harvest Days, Nebraska Angus Tour, member sales and sale barns throughout the year.

In closing I hope everyone has a great and prosperous spring and for those of you that may not know I will be having a very busy spring getting ready for a new baby at the end of April! I will still be available in the office, so please do not hesitate in reaching out with any questions you may have.

Sincerely,
 Margo Lehn

PRESIDENT SPEAKS

By: Matt Dolezal, NAA President

Fellow Angus Breeders,

What an exciting time of year we find ourselves in as I sit at my desk writing this letter while also waiting for a barn full of heifers to calve. For cattle producers around the country bull sales and calving season make spring the most exciting time of year. Spring is a time to enjoy the fruits of our labor, to evaluate last year's breeding decisions, and to watch our calves grow and develop into what hopefully meets our intended breeding goals and takes our herds in the right direction. For those of you that have already wrapped up your bull sales, congratulations and I hope you had a successful sale. And for those with sales to come I wish you the best of luck. This time of year, tends to slip past us with so much going on, but it's important to take a moment to appreciate the miracles that are happening all around us, the privilege each one of us has to be in this industry, and also to give yourself a pat on the back for producing another great crop of Angus calves, which continue to be in high demand. Angus continues to be the elite and dominant breed and is highly sought after by seed stock producers and commercial producers alike; this is something we should all be proud to be a part of. As you are reading this the 2021 Cattleman's Classic will already be in the books. The Angus breed continues to be the premier breed at the classic and is always highly competitive in both the show ring as well as the sale ring. Cattlemen come from all over the country to see the best the Angus breed has to offer and year after year Nebraska breeders continue to be one of the highlights.

In closing, I would again like to wish everyone the best of luck with the remainder of the spring. With a lot of bull sales and other events left to attend I look forward to visiting with all of you. Also, right now the planning for the 2021 Nebraska Angus Tour is in full swing. I would like to take this time to encourage anyone with ideas or anyone that is interested in displaying on the tour to contact me or any of the other directors. With the tour in Western Nebraska this year there is a lot of area to cover and a lot of wonderful cattle to see so it will take input from everyone to make it a success and I'm looking forward to doing whatever I can to make this tour one to remember. Until next time I hope we all get that much needed moisture and find ourselves waste deep in green grass with turnout time fast approaching.

Best Regards,

Matt Dolezal

Dear Nebraska Angus Friends,

Hope all is going well for everyone in the midst of Spring activities!

The staff at the American Angus Association introduced their set of Long Range Objectives for the organization at the Annual Convention in November.

The general mission statement is: To provide programs, services, technology, and leadership to enhance the genetics of the Angus breed, broaden its influence within the beef industry, and expand the market for superior tasting, high-quality Angus beef worldwide.

The Five Core Objectives are:

- 1) Drive breed improvement
- 2) Enhance membership experience and success
- 3) Foster profitability of commercial cattlemen
- 4) Serve as a trusted industry resource
- 5) Grow consumer trust and loyalty

Below is an illustration of the Core Objectives and how they will be concretely implemented.

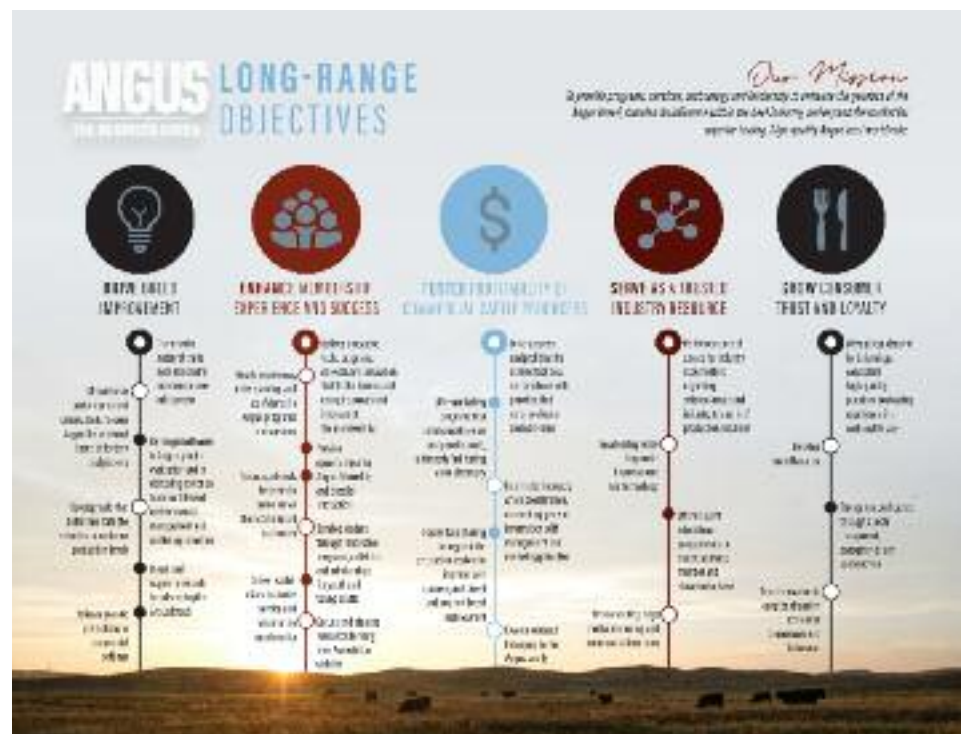

I am encouraged by the thoughtful consideration of these objectives and the value their use will add to our Association's members and our fellow commercial cattlemen.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at any time.

Sincerely,

Jerry Connealy

NE AUXILIARY PRESIDENT SPEAKS

By: Heather Smith, NE Angus Aux President

Greetings Angus Friends,

When I was growing up in the “Big” city of Lincoln, January was always thought of as a month where nothing happened. Now, I certainly can disagree with that! Many of us had plenty to do in the months of January and February. While calving season is one of the most stressful it sure is one of the most rewarding in so many ways. And, as I wrote this, at least for me, the weather was exceptional up to the first weeks of February. I hope the rest of you were blessed with great weather during your time of calving. I sure do wish that the heavy bred would take advantage of beautiful weather, and not wait until the weather declines.

January is also typically a time where many producers head to Denver. With COVID and other issues the Denver Stock Show was cancelled. In typical “can do spirit” an incredibly talented and ambitious group of folks pulled together the Cattlemen’s Congress. I know that it was a very different venue this year, but from our perspective as attendees, it was an extremely well-done event and the quality and depth of the livestock was impressive. The producers from Nebraska were well represented and it was good to see them there.

The Auxiliary was able to meet via Zoom as a group the last weekend of January and vote on our new officer team. Michelle Nelson of Anselmo will serve as our Vice President, Kelli Hollman as Secretary, Lynette Nelson stayed on as Treasurer, and Laurie Dethlefs is our advisor. We discussed future events, such as the National Junior Angus show, which will be held in Grand island, July10-17. It is our goal to be as helpful and supportive as we can be.

The re-formation of the Nebraska Auxiliary was a goal that has been obtained through some serious hard work and dedication by many of our members. Having the Auxiliary is such a tremendous asset to our junior members. There are many opportunities that are available to the junior kids that the Auxiliary helps to facilitate, so that our Angus youth can be recognized for their hard work, and accomplishments. We are working extremely hard to keep the Auxiliary in place, and moving forward, so that we can be there to help not only the junior kids, but also help with anything our Angus community may need.

Regarding the opportunities available to our Angus youth, one opportunity is the Certificate of Achievement. It is a simple recognition form / application that is available to any junior who is a current member of the National Junior Association. The time frame for the application is October 1st through September 30th of the current year and needs to be sent in by November 1st. This can be given to one of the Junior Advisors or sent directly to the ladies that handle them at the national level. This form can be found on the National Angus Auxiliary site. Another opportunity is the Bronze and Silver Award. This is an award that the Junior can earn at any time during their junior years. It is a point system based on participation with contests, leadership, show placings, and the data keeping of their herd. This application can be found on the National Junior Angus Association site. Both applications function to not only recognize the kids for their accomplishments, but down the road they can also serve as a record book, when applying for the American Angus Auxiliary Scholarship during their senior year of high school. For the junior to qualify for this prestigious scholarship he or she first has to have earned the Bronze and Silver Awards. Please do not hesitate to reach out if you have any questions.

There are so many opportunities available to recognize the outstanding kids we have representing Nebraska!

In closing, I would just like to emphasize how important it is to us to keep the Auxiliary active and moving forward. I would also like to thank the ladies that have made this possible. There is a lot of behind the scenes work that gets done, and without those who have continued to dedicate themselves to this organization, we would not be able to continue. So, with that, we invite you to join us so that we may continue into the future.

Hello Angus Friends!

As we enter March, I'm sure most of you are in the heat of calving season and bull sales. Many of our Nebraska breeders just wrapped up a week of participating in the Cattlemen's Classic as well as a competitive Junior Show Weekend.

As spring approaches, juniors will have a couple items to keep in mind and start planning for. The State Show will be hosted in Broken Bow this year the weekend of June 4-6. Our officers and committees will be busy finalizing plans and activities for a fun weekend. We encourage all junior members to come enjoy a weekend with our Angus family. This will be a great weekend for everyone to get together one last time before we meet at Grand Island for the 2021 National Junior Angus Show. Nebraska is beyond excited to be hosting "The Grandest Show" July 10-17. If anyone is interested in helping with the show please contact Brian and Tiffany Stoller, Brandon and Kami Meyer, or myself. We would love to see everyone get involved!

We are also approaching many deadlines. Our State officer applications are due May 15th back to Brian and Tiffany Stoller. The application will be available soon! For those high school seniors interested in applying for the American Angus Auxiliary scholarship must have turned them into the Nebraska Angus Auxiliary by their specified date. Information will be posted regarding specific deadlines for the State Scholarships soon. These are great opportunities to get rewarded for your involvement and success within the Angus breed.

On a national level there are some great conferences coming up that I encourage everyone to attend. Raising the Bar is headed to Auburn University this year from April 8-11. This a great opportunity to tour different campuses and look into multiple majors. Our very own Reagan Skow has put together this event and we can't wait to see what she has in store for everyone! Finally, LEAD will take place in Indianapolis, Indiana with the theme of Life in the Angus Lane from July 29-August 1. Lead is the best opportunity to see new places, explore different forms of agriculture and make friendships to last a lifetime!

If you have any questions about the upcoming events, don't hesitate to contact me. I hope everyone stays warm the rest of winter and I hope to see you all at the State Show and Nationals this summer!

Sincerely,

Kyra Meyer

AM I FULL OF CRAP?

Calf scours are not inevitable. A strong prevention program is non-negotiable. Dependable scour prevention is essential for calf welfare, employee morale and business profitability. The immune system's response to vaccination is variable and unpredictable. That's why giving preformed antibodies instead of relying on a vaccine to stimulate antibody production is so important. I'm all for removing uncertainties. So yes, I stand by this product. (And no, I'm not.)

NEBRASKA ANGUS QUEEN SPOTLIGHT

NEBRASKA ANGUS QUEEN

TaraLee Hudson

The Nebraska Angus Association would like to introduce to you our 2021 Miss Nebraska Angus Queen, TaraLee Hudson. TaraLee, who is from Belvidere, Nebraska, grew up on a diversified agriculture operation. She is the daughter of Corey Bill & Gina Hudson with younger sister JessaLynn. TaraLee has always had a passion for agriculture and the cattle industry and so when the opportunity came up to become the next Nebraska Angus Queen, she did not hesitate. When asked what made her decide to try and become the next Nebraska Angus Queen she replied with “I have always had a passion for advocacy and for Angus cattle, and the role of Nebraska Angus Queen is a perfect way to combine both of these things”.

TaraLee joined the Nebraska Junior Angus Association and the National Junior Angus Association in the fall of 2015 after purchasing her very first Angus heifer. From a young age, she had been very active in showing different cattle breeds at various levels of competition, and after finding out that the National Junior Angus Show was going to be held in Grand Island, Nebraska, TaraLee and her family decided that they were going to solely focus on showing the Angus breed. After attending her first National Junior Angus Show in Nebraska, she has traveled to every National Junior Angus Show since then and has shown at the Nebraska Junior Angus Association State and Winter shows. She has pushed herself in continuing to stay more involved, and has shown in a variety of different classes including Angus heifers, steers, and bulls. Along with showing she has participated in the Quiz Bowl and Skill-A-Thon competitions at nationals. Now she has expanded her involvement in representing the Angus breed as the Miss Nebraska Angus Queen.

When asked what has been her favorite part of being Queen so far, TaraLee responded with “My favorite part about being Queen so far has been meeting all of the different breeders and producers from around the state and being able to advocate for their operations. These people are the backbone of the Angus industry in Nebraska and are the reason that this breed continues to thrive in our state”. She also commented that her advice to any girl looking to be the next Nebraska Angus Queen is “To not be afraid to step outside of your box and try new things, even if being a Queen is something you never thought you would do in your lifetime”.

TaraLee has made goals to stay involved throughout the rest of her youth career by continuing to participate in different shows and activities. She plans to continue to expand her Angus breeding herd, far beyond her involvement in the Nebraska Junior Angus Association and the National Junior Angus Association. She currently attends the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, majoring in Animal Science and Agricultural Economics, with a minor in the Beef Industry Scholars program. After graduation, she plans to stay in Nebraska, with intentions of becoming an agricultural legislation and policy lobbyist.

If you would like to meet TaraLee or have her attend your upcoming production sales, annual events, or just invite her to your place to visit please contact the Nebraska Angus Association office!

National Angus Bull Sale Excels in New Location

Excitement builds as the breed's best are sold in Oklahoma City.

The 82nd Annual National Angus Bull Sale overcame the challenging year of 2020 to bring an excited crowd to Oklahoma City. The renewed event commanded the attention of hundreds of visitors and buyers from across the nation, both in-person and online. Held in conjunction with the inaugural Cattlemen's Congress, the change of scenery proved valuable for both the buyers and the sellers at the event.

As the final bid rang through the sale arena, a total of 34 registered bulls grossed $551,750, with an average of $16,227, which is an increase from years prior. The high-selling lot, Conley Verified 0853 consigned by Conley Cattle, sold for $77,500. The second high-selling lot, Wilks Guru 2035 consigned by Wilk Ranches of Eastland, Texas, was purchased for $75,000. The Angus Foundation Heifer Package donated by Benoit Angus lead off the sale and brought in a $35,000 donation to further the Foundation's mission of youth, education and research.

"We can't thank the folks here at the Cattlemen's Congress enough for what they've done, giving us an avenue and a location for us to have our sale," Sale Manager and Angus Regional Manager Alex Tolbert said. "The breeders stepped up in a year of change, and they brought us quality cattle and bulls with broad market appeal."

Sale managers and consigners put together a top-notch set of bulls from across the country, representing a wide variety of operations. The bulls consigned offered a high caliber of both phenotype and genetic profiles. Bulls were required to be genomically-tested and sold with genetic predictions. Hosting the sale in a central part of the country attracted several new consigners and influx of bidders and supporters at the inaugural Cattlemen's Congress.

"We saw a great turn out this year and we hope to continue to build on the excitement for next year," Tolbert said. "The Angus breed has positioned itself to be a leader in the industry, and the bulls brought forth reinforced that last week in Oklahoma City."

The National Angus Bull Sale typically sets the tone for an optimistic year of Angus sales, and this year was no different. To view the full sale report and learn more about the National Angus Bull Sale, visit Angus.org.

Angus Announces New Regional Manager Internship for Fall 2021

American Angus Association invites students to apply for new field internship.

The 13 regional managers of the American Angus Association® are the boots-on-the-ground Angus experts who wear many hats. This fall, the American Angus Association's field services team is excited to offer the new 2021 Regional Manager Internship, which is designed to enhance a student's ability to build effective relationships, craft a promotional strategy and learn about the Angus business and cattle industry. The 9-week, full-time internship begins in August and lasts until December and will be based at the American Angus Association headquarters in St. Joseph, Mo., with numerous opportunities to travel to different regions of the country.

From assisting with herd visits to securing advertising in the Angus Journal and Angus Beef Bulletin to providing insight to the breeder, the regional manager intern will gain valuable hands-on, real-world experience in the Angus business.

"The Regional Manager Internship provides a unique learning experience for rising junior and senior college students interested in a career as a field representative with a breed association or similar positions within the industry," said David Gazda, regional manager and director of field services. "It will provide an opportunity to gain valuable work experience and exposure to all entities and departments of the Association from conception to end product. Most importantly, this internship will provide an individual hands-on experience and a greater insight into the role regional manager's perform as a representative of the Association and the skills sets required to serve successfully in this position."

The selected intern will have the opportunity to promote the Angus breed and represent the American Angus Association by attending production sales, shows and other events.

"The role of the regional manager is what truly drives the advancement and connection within the Angus breed. This team of dedicated professionals serve as a trusted resource for Angus breeders and buyers of Angus genetics by delivering information, guidance and support across all aspects of the Association and its entities," said Brett

Spader, Angus Media president. "This internship is a unique opportunity to become familiar with all aspects of the Angus breed while having a meaningful impact on Angus breeders."

Those interested in applying should send a resume, cover letter and references to careers@angus.org by May 1, 2021. Visit angus.org/careers for the internship description and requirements.

2021 Auxiliary Scholarships Available for Junior Angus Members

The American Angus Auxiliary scholarships are presented annually. The total amount awarded will vary. Ten (10) scholarships will be awarded. The exact amount of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth place awards given to both boy and girl qualified applicants will be determined by May 1, 2021. Scholarships may be defined as financial grants for which no equivalent work is required.

Each state is entitled to submit one girl and one boy application for the national scholarships. The two applications must be submitted by the state or regional scholarship chairperson to the American Angus Auxiliary Scholarship Chairperson.

All scholarship applicants are encouraged to attend the National Junior Angus Show in early July.

The scholarship application is the basis from which the candidates are chosen to compete for Miss American Angus. Each girl submitting a scholarship application will be required to complete a form declaring her intent to compete/not compete for Miss American Angus if given the opportunity. The five highest placing girls choosing to compete for Miss American Angus will be announced at the National Junior Show. These girls will be required to attend the Miss American Angus contest held in November at the Angus Convention. The intent form and additional information on the role and requirements of Miss American Angus will be mailed to each girl applicant AFTER her scholarship application is received. (Please note: choosing not to compete for Miss American Angus does not affect scholarship eligibility.)

The application for the American Angus Auxiliary Scholarships is available online. Interested Junior Angus members may download the application, access directions and general information here:

<http://www.angusauxiliary.com/leadership/scholarship.html> or at www.nebraskaangus.org under the Angus Block tab and search for Scholarships (will be located at the bottom).

The American Angus Auxiliary consists of individuals interested in the welfare of the Angus breed. Its members work to provide educational activities for junior Angus members, such as scholarship programs, awards, and competitions.

State Contact: Margo Lehn, Scholarship Chairperson, PO Box 245, Long Pine, NE 69217. Phone: 402-760-0386. Email: info@nebraskaangus.org. Applications Due APRIL 15th!

ANGUS. ONLY ANGUS.

There's only one DNA profile created specifically for Angus cattle.

Angus GS™ is the new standard in genetic testing for Angus cattle. Created by Angus Genetics, the profile is purely Angus DNA. So it will have better predictability and deliver more power and accuracy than any previous generation genomic enhanced EPD, and at greater value. Visit angus.org/agi for the test that only Angus Genetics could create.

MARKET UPDATE

by Paul Dykstra

January fed cattle prices traded in a very tight range around $110/cwt. with last week's CattleFax average steer price up to $112.50/cwt. While this is the highest price on the ledger since the first week of June, the January average price is 12% lower than that of 2020. Cattlemen in all sectors keep looking hopefully toward spring as market-ready cattle supplies shift.

Carcass weights continue to add tonnage to the market on a per-head basis with the latest steer/heifer average 19 lb. heavier than a year ago. Although weights declined in December, they have crept up again to match those seen in late November.

Live Cattle futures are quite unbalanced for the nearby two contract months with a $6.60/cwt. difference favoring April over February. This abnormality affects timing by incentivizing feedyards to push cattle toward later marketing dates.

Cost-of-gain estimates using $5+/bushel corn prices argue the opposite, especially for heavier, more mature cattle, but the cattle futures dynamics are impactful.

Standing in contrast to fed cattle, boxed beef sales are posting serious price gains with the Choice cutout 8% higher than a year ago and the CAB cutout 6% higher. Last week's price advances were tremendous, with the Choice cutout up $9.44/cwt. in 7 days and cutout values second only to those seen in 2015 for that week.

Starting out February with such a strong spot market is uncharacteristic. We've noted this period tends to be the weakest beef-demand month of the year, but that's not the current picture. When we consider the large slaughter head counts plus the tonnage increases due to carcass weight, this is really a high-water mark for demand.

Many states with the worst COVID-19 conditions and the most restrictive restaurant dining policies are just now beginning to open up foodservice for dine-in business. Even though occupancy policies are in place, many people haven't had the opportunity to eat in a restaurant for a very long time. Some of the current demand spike is due to that recent further opening of the foodservice sector.

With more global optimism, CAB exports rise in December

When cattle prices and producer sentiment are lackluster, sometimes it's nice to look to a bright spot in the market. At CAB, a recent snapshot of December export data provides some interesting fodder, and something to get excited about.

December saw growth in 8 out of 10 of the top CAB export markets based on tonnage, as compared to 2019 figures for the same timeframe. CAB is sold in 51 countries outside the U.S. and adding up sales across the board, December is up 14.4 million pounds (lb.) or 11.8%.

It should be noted, December 2019 was a softer-than-normal month due to market factors such as the Tyson plant fire earlier that year. But nonetheless, there's reason to find optimism in current demand outside of our borders.

Kuwait and the United Arab Emirates led growth, so a regional breakout shows the Middle East up 120% over the previous December. Our international team notes that although precautions are still being taken, distribution in this region is almost "business as usual." The brand will add more distribution channels across the Middle East in the very near future.

South America is up 91%, with strong partners in Peru, Chile and Colombia, where a shift to retail and e-commerce helped bolster sales. East Asia posted a 23.6% growth, led by steadily higher sales in Japan at 2.6 million lb. and South Korea at 1.6 million. However, Hong Kong and Taiwan had even larger percentage growth, showing up as considerable buyers in the market. China does not make the top 10 yet, but the purchasing power and desire for more U.S. beef is there. Logistics and sourcing enough ractopamine-free cattle are current hurdles.

The hardest hit among top CAB export markets is Canada, where retail demand is strong, but foodservice business has suffered immensely from the lockdowns this winter. Sales there are down 18%.

Historically, high-quality beef demand in leading export markets has relied on tourism, and in places like the Caribbean, the Dominican Republic and Mexico, it still does. Yet, there's a growing shift to complement that tourism-related buying with true domestic retail demand in many countries. They are showing an appetite for quality.

During this period, CAB personnel have not been able to be the "boots on the ground," delivering typical in-person trainings and sales meetings. However, they stayed involved with customers via creative virtual sessions and addressing specific needs in specific regions. The enthusiasm from the buyer side is good anecdotal evidence this one-month export improvement will build on itself throughout 2021.
